"Do you know that other worlds, different from ours, exist, which the Conjunction of the Spheres cut off access to? Universes, called elemental and para-elemental planes. Inhabited by creatures called demons?"

—Sorel Degerlund

Apart from The Witcher world several other realities exist. An infinite number of universes, parallel realities, Spheres and Dimensions were once possible to traverse without much effort this was however changed during the catastrophic event known as the Conjunction of the Spheres. Some of them mixed while the other vanished forever. Since then, the only known route between the universes has been known as the Spiral. Some of the creatures known to traverse the universes are unicorns.

Possible worlds

Worlds, parallel worlds or supposed alternative timelines that have interacted with the world, through, for example, people, objects, monsters, etc... but have not been fully assured of their existence. These realities, by those theorists and others who have supposed proof of their existence, have been classified by the use of numbers. These theorists share the focal sphere theory (see below in the article) but with the difference that they do believe in the existence of a central universe.

- Prime Universe : White Frost Late Expansion [A timeline in which the White Frost phenomenon took 3000 years to freeze the world.]
- Universe 2 : Jacques de Aldesberg's Continent [A supposed alternative timeline of the Continent (see below in the article) where The White Frost ended up consuming the world in an eternal winter.]
- Universe 3 : Early contact between the Nordlings and the Okamese timeline [A supposed alternative timeline, where a contact between these two peoples occurred earlier in history, which led to significant changes. Among them, for example, that the Witchers of the Order wore armor inspired by the samurai of the islands.]
- Universe 4 : Timeline where The World, ended in ecological collapse rather than because of The White Frost.
- Universe 5 : A timeline very similar to Universe 4, with only a few differences, such as the existence of the Aen Faennin. Referenced by some elves in texts, but not present at all.
- Universe 6 : A timeline where Nilfgaard won the Third Northern War.
- Universe 7 : Late Witchers World [A world very similar to the Continent, but with some notable changes, including the appearance of the witchers in 967 instead of 951. This produces a butterfly effect that leads to several notable changes with respect to the known Continent's world.]
- Universe 8 : Eastern timeline [A supposed timeline, where the entire story of Geralt of Rivia took place in the Okami Islands instead of in the Northern Kingdoms.]
- Universe 9 : A timeline, where certain roles in Universe 7 have been changed.
- Universe 10 : A timeline where instead of Morvran Voorhis becoming Emperor of Nilfgaard, Emhyr's daughter, Cirilla, becomes the first ruling empress.
- Universe 11 : The "Happy Endings" Timeline. A timeline, where some events turned out more positively. The wedding of Geralt of Rivia and Yennefer takes place in this universe. In this universe, events such as the Magne Massacre or the Haaki Invasion do not happen either.
- Universe 12 : A timeline, where Keira Metz ends up dying during the time of the Witch Hunts, unable to work on her cure for the Catriona Plague, this leads to an almost apocalyptic scenario. As fanaticism grew, both her work and Alexander's notes were burned.
- Universe 13 : A timeline, where the witchers appear in a more technologically advanced era.
- Universe 14 : A timeline equal to Universe 4, but with the genders changed.
- Universe 15 : A universe, very similar to the Prime Universe or Universe 4, with some differences, the most notable being that the locations of the witcher schools are changed, with the Griffins, for example, being located in the Amell Mountains instead of Kovir.
- Universe 16 : A timeline where the Aen Nilfe domination never ended, but expanded.
- Universe 17 : A timeline in which Emhyr ended up marrying a foreign noblewoman, not the "fake Ciri".
- Universe 18 : A timeline where the cult of Coram Agh Tera appears in 1611.
- Universe 19 : A timeline where the Empire of Magne never fell.
- Universe 20 : The world of Velhad [A world, very similar to the world of The Continent, but at the same time very different, which originated in the Third Conjunction]
- Universe 21 : A timeline in which things 'didn't go well'. [This is the home dimension that Skullheads originally come from.]

Dimensions aka the Elemental Planes

3D representation of the different planes made by SMiki55

- Ether or Astral Plane, source of the Fifth Element.
 - It is inhabited by various ethereal entities such as hyms and perispirits.
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the Jann, a genie of mixed magic capable of the four classical elements but were weaker than other genie types, also capable of their own Ether magic.
 - Ether Elementals, the third stage in the Jann life-cycle.
 - Ether Daemons, the second stage in the Jann life-cycle. A Ether Daemon forms either by enough Ether Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Ether Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Ether Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the Jann. Created when an Jann purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, each piece becomes an individual Ether Mephit.
- Elemental Plane of Air
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the Djinn, a pure Air chaos genie. Djinn are responsible for all the pure air and winds found through all the known verses.
 - Air Elementals, the third stage in the Djinn life-cycle.
 - Air Daemons, the second stage in the Djinn life-cycle. A Air Daemon forms either by enough Air Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Air Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Lightning Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the Djinn. Created when an Djinn purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, resulting in each piece becoming an individual Lightning Mephit.
- Elemental Plane of Earth
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the D'ao, a pure Earth chaos genie. D'ao are responsible for all the minerals, metals and land found through all the known verses.
 - Earth Elementals, the third stage in the D'ao life-cycle.
 - Earth Daemons, the second stage in the D'ao life-cycle. A Earth Daemon forms either by enough Earth Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Earth Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Earth Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the D'ao. Created when an D'ao purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, each piece becomes an individual Earth Mephit.
- Elemental Plane of Fire
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the Ifrits, a pure Fire chaos genie. Ifrits are responsible for all the heat and plasma found through all the known verses.
 - Fire Elementals, the third stage in the Ifrit life-cycle.
 - Fire Daemons, the second stage in the Ifrit life-cycle. A Fire Daemon forms either by enough Fire Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Fire Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Fire Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the Ifrits. Created when an Ifrit purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, resulting in each piece becomes Fire Mephit.

- Elemental Plane of Water
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the Marides, a pure Water chaos genie. Marides are responsible for all the water (rivers, seas and oceans) found through all the known verses.
 - Water Elementals, the third stage in the Maride life-cycle.
 - Water Daemons, the second stage in the Maride life-cycle. A Water Daemon forms either by enough Water Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Water Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Water Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the Marides. Created when an Maride purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, each piece becomes an individual Water Mephit.
- Para-Elemental Planes
 - Ice Para-Elemental Plane. A cross-plane that experiences bleed-over between the planes of Air and Water. This places was created from an echo of the power of Xicllaniparan, The Abysmal Tundra of the Moper. This realm is home to the White Frost, the goddess Quxasis, and her husband Huses as well as the Ice Primordial, Dur-Baagal. This is likely the home-world of the hounds bred by the Dearg Ruadhri (Wild Hunt). The Qorrash are responsible for all the ice and cold found through all the known verses.
 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the Qorrash.
 - Ice Elementals, the third stage in the Qorrash life-cycle.
 - Ice Daemons, the second stage in the Qorrash life-cycle. A Ice Daemon forms either by enough Ice Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Ice Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.
 - Ice Mephits, a weaker servile 'larval' form of the Qorrash. Created when an Qorrash purposely shatters a piece of their own essence, resulting in each piece becoming an individual Ice Mephit.
 - Nature Para-Elemental Plane, a separate plane to the similar Plane of Earth, this plane is overrun with lush plant life and all the life here is plant-based.

 - Inhabited by the dominant race of the (TBA)
 - Steam Elementals, the third stage in the (TBA) life-cycle.
 - Steam Daemons, the second stage in the (TBA) life-cycle. A Steam Daemon forms either by enough Steam Mephits fusing together which is more commonly how Steam Daemons come into being or on rare occasion through age.

Second Conjunction

During the Second Conjunction, the same process was repeated and multiple dimensions, worlds and timelines crossed again.

A clear example of this is the emergence of otherworldly islands like the Malus Island and Kantia in the Mad Sea and also otherworldly islands in different parts of the World like Satanazes and Antillia in The Great Sea, Mayda and the Nimrod islands in the Far North, Torca, Ganges and Táiyáng in the seas of the Far East and the Emerald Island and Davisland in the Far South.

Extra

In later Conjunctions, the same process would be repeated without any significant changes.

Theories

Multiversal rules

Due to its sheer size and complexity. All the proposals to find a structure and way of acting of the multiverse have been impossible to verify, but that does not mean that some scholars have not proposed theories, which could eventually be true.

The main theory, and one on which many agree, is that there is not, as such, a primary existing universe, but one, which served as the basis for the eventual development of the omniverse (see below in the article)

Another theory of considerable relevance indicates that, within the infinity of the multiverse, there exist focal spheres, probably arising at the beginning of the creation of the multiverse, which serve as a starting point for possible ramifications, eventually cascading to infinity.

This would imply that, if one were to go from one's initial universe to the closest ones, one would probably find very similar universes, with very minor changes, and these would become progressively greater as one moved away from one's universe of origin.

Megaverse

A concept theorised by various mages and scholars, which has not been proven. This would imply the existence of different multiverses, grouped in bubbles which would be known as megaverses, which would share very similar characteristics. This concept began to develop as a result of the appearance of portals to other realities found throughout The Continent in an active state. Which was thought impossible, due to the multiversal collapse, known as the Conjunction of the Spheres.

Which, according to this theory, would imply that there is not just one multiverse, but multiverses beyond the known one.

Gigaverse

Another concept theorized by mages and scholars, which would imply an infinite set of megaverses. The movement of the megaverses in the gigaverse would reverberate through the multiverses, thus causing their collapse and giving rise to the Conjunctions of the Spheres.

Teraverse

In theory, it would involve a set of gigaverses. According to occult mage sects, it would be in this part of the whole, where most of the demon-gods would reside, away from the standard demons.

Petaverse

It would be a set of teraverses, but there is no serious theory as in the case of the megaverse. According to occult sects, it is in this zone where entities opposed to the god demons would live. Some speculate that they would be the most powerful versions of the so-called angels.

Exaverse

As with the petaverse, there is no serious theory. It would be the grouping of different petaverses. And according to occultists, it would be in this place where entities impossible for any sorcerer to access, called Cosmic Horrors, would reside. The eldritch fiery being known as Cthugha, the Living Flame as well as its minion the Fire Vampires are theorized to be from this verse, but draw some of their power from the Plane of Fire, due to Gaunter O'Dimm's power and his statement that he is not a demon or djinn, it is theorized that Gaunter O'Dimm's true form is a Cosmic Horror.

Zettaverse

A group of exaverses, protected by entities opposed to the Cosmic Horrors with the sole intention of preventing them from escaping so that they do not destroy the everything.

Theory put forward by a mage belonging to an occultist sect, who was drugged.

Yottaverse

A group of zettaverses and a place, where the creators of both Cosmic Horrors and their counterparts would reside.

Omniverse

According to the most extravagant philosophers of the Continent, the Omniverse would be all that exists, existed and will exist. According to similarly minded theologians, it would be in the omniverse that the gods would reside. The beings known as the Elohim such as 'The Source' is theorized to have be from this verse.

Possible proven theories

Alternate timelines

It remains a theory, as this part of the Gera't of Rivia legend has never been proven but it is said, that Alvin, later known as Jacques de Aldesberg, could be someone from an alternate timeline. Which would ensure their existence in the multiverse. Instead of someone with a mutation of the Elder Blood gene. That would explain much of what happened with him, and more importantly, his supposed ability to jump between realities, despite being a man, since the gene's abilities only manifest in women.

But like so much in the history of the White Wolf, it is a mystery that is likely to remain unsolved.

Another possible proof are the rumors from the School of the Crane that said that the druidess known as Ahavel, was very similar in appearance to Putnam Pitch's great love, Tubiel of Brenna. Commenting that it was actually this same one, but coming from another alternate timeline. Although it could never be known for sure, due to the witcher's taste for red-haired women.

- Trolls (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human elsewhere.)

- Ice Trolls (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.)
- Mountain Trolls (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.) The largest of the terrestrial trolls.
- Rock Trolls (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.)
 - Crystalline Trolls (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.) A rare variant of Rock Troll that has eaten crystals instead of rocks resulting in a crystalline skin and covering on their back. They are generally thinner than Rock Trolls and taller (mostly due to not slouching as much as their kin).
- Sea Troll (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.) Exist in the World but rarely interact with the surface, as they find plenty to do and entertain them in the Vodyanoi cities in which they are usually found. In Tir ná nÓg they are found in the oceans and hunt sea monsters. They are like River Trolls but bigger, and tougher with things like coral-like growths on their backs and overlapping sharp teeth like a crocodile. Sea Trolls are the largest of the aquatic trolls.
 - River Troll (Human level in the realm of Tir ná nÓg, about as smart as a dim human or child elsewhere.) Exist in the World but rarely interact with the surface, as they find plenty to do and entertain them in the Vodyanoi cities in which they are usually found. In Tir ná nÓg they are found in rivers and act as ferrymen and take tolls. They are like Sea Trolls but smaller, and generally looked like a large fat goblin with fins for ears.

Trivia

- Most of the vanished worlds were due to the fact that they could not withstand the collision between realities.

Notes

- SchoolOfTheLycan asked the administration that his fanon not be included in the common fanon, that's why within the general lore, it was included as a separate universe. But this is an exception, as he asked for it. For new potential users reading this, I remind you that the following is present in the rules, so try to help build the common fanon. I'm sure something cool will come out of it: Try to build your own character or lore, building on that of others. On this Wikia, unlike others, we try to expand The Witcher universe in a coherent and cohesive way. Not everyone creating parallel universes, each one crazier than the last. In that sense, we try to imitate other examples of collaborative writing done well, such as the SCP Foundation.
 - The soft reference to the Sun Elves, is solely by way of connecting The Witcher multiverse as The Witcher 1 was connected, despite the canonicity issues with the game's villain.
- The idea of the crossed timelines would be different moments of The World, which during the Conjunction end up interconnecting in some way (Example: The theory of the temporal - displaced Geralt of Rivia in Season of Storms)
- Neo - Earth is a direct reference to World Wiki, a world that is Earth, but in a D&D setting. In this world, the Witcher class appears, in a style very similar to that of Geralt of Rivia's universe. And it has already been referenced as inspiration in the Witcher's Code article. If it has been added, it is so that in the future, if someone wishes to add a new school of witchers. Do it, but in this universe / sphere without interfering with the main common fanon Witcher Schools.
- Geronas would be a separated group or subspecies of the gnomes.
- Gnolls are based off of their D&D counterparts.
- Mephits were inspired by the dnd creatures of the same name.
- Abnormalities were inspired for two things, the SCPs and the D&D Mimics (in this case, they would be more like mimics, objects that through the intervention of the ether have come to life).
- Vunikula is a reference to this creature from a child's book : Bunnacula.
- Rakoa is a direct reference to this fan - maze of Magic : The Gathering : Rakoa created by Xeuroruk.
- Aenyr is a direct reference to this fan - maze of Magic : The Gathering : Aenyr created by Zervintz
- Edoria is a reference to Endor / Middle Earth from Tolkien works.
- The Late Witchers World is basically Netflix's The Witcher.
- Kardun is a reference to this abandoned D&D Wiki : Various Worlds Wiki.
- The Early contact between the Nordlings and the Okamese timeline is basically The Hexer (TV show and movie)
- The Eastern timeline is basically a reference to all the merch that Cd Projekt Red created with Samurai Geralt.
- The White Frost Late Expansion timeline is a direct reference to the book canon timeline. From this timeline, three more lines would emerge, the line of the games, the line of the book by various authors where the Crane School appears and the line of this wiki, the line of the common fanon.
- Universe 9 is a reference to all the AU's created by the part of the fandom coming from The Witcher Netflix.
- Universe 11 is the universe of the non-canonical story of "Something More".
- Many of these parallel universes are references to fanfics created by the community. Others are simply references to early versions of things that the community or Sapkowski had in mind. Like the witchers of the School of the Griffin located in the Amell mountains.
- The fact that Nilfheim can alter the reality of other worlds with its fog is a reference to the lore of Demon's Souls.
- Genasi are based in their D&D counterpart but are rare and instead of arising from romances or exposure to other planes, they would be more like a trolling of the genies to, for example, sorceresses who want to recover their fertility.
